11th Annual AI and Analytics Symposium

"The Reckoning - from Adoption to Value with Accountability"

Thursday, March 4, 2027: The University of Texas at Arlington

The 11th Annual AI and Analytics Symposium brings together industry leaders, practitioners, and academics to share knowledge and explore the latest developments in analytics and artificial intelligence. Each year, the event welcomes approximately 200 attendees, including representatives from about 50 companies. Attendees enjoy a full day featuring a keynote presentation, tech talks, expert panel discussions, hands-on workshops, a student AI competition, and valuable networking opportunities, culminating in a happy hour reception.

By sponsoring the symposium, organizations play a vital role in advancing AI education and innovation through scholarships and research initiatives that support the next generation of AI and analytics professionals.

Please contact Dr. Santoso Budiman, santoso.budiman@uta.edu, for more information.
