

The University of Texas at Arlington
COLLEGE OF BUSINESS

Student Academic Grievance Form
For Appeal of a Final Course Grade

PROCEDURES

The procedure for pursuing grievances related to final course grades described in the undergraduate and graduate catalogs provide that it is the obligation of the student to first make a serious effort to resolve the grade dispute with the instructor. The instructor has primary responsibility for assigning grades, and his or her judgment is final unless there is evidence of discrimination, preferential (differential) treatment or procedural irregularities. A mere disagreement with the judgment made by the instructor is not a valid basis for an appeal. No grade appeal will be considered one year after a grade is given. Appeals must be made through appropriate channels as described below.

STEPS IN THE APPEAL PROCESS

1. Before you may appeal a grade to the appropriate department chair, you must have attempted to resolve your complaint with the instructor who issued the final course grade.
2. If you wish to pursue a final course grade appeal beyond the instructor, complete questions one through nine on this form and deliver to the appropriate department chair. Before considering the grievance, the chairperson at his or her discretion, could refer the issue to the Departmental Grade Appeals Committee.
3. If you wish to pursue a grade appeal beyond the department chairperson, continue with questions nine through 11 on this form and deliver to the College of Business Dean's Office, room 334.
4. The Dean or his representative will review the recommendation of the department chair and inform you of his decision in writing. This decision on the grade appeal is final. No further grievance process is available.

7. What was the outcome of the request made to the instructor? Attach documentation provided by the instructor pertaining to your request for grade appeal.
